FUND OBJECTIVE

The Polaris Global Value UCITS Fund seeks capital appreciation by investing in value stocks worldwide. The Fund is diversified across country and market capitalization, and typically holds 65 to 100 stocks that meet Polaris' strict value criteria.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Investment Manager uses proprietary investment technology combined with fundamental research to identify potential investments. Filters are applied as part of the investment approach, which attempts to identify a list of companies with the most undervalued streams of sustainable free cash flow worldwide. Polaris then conducts rigorous fundamental research on the companies identified in the screening process, selecting companies in which the Fund invests.

INVESTMENT MANAGER

Polaris Capital Management, LLC is a global value equity manager that provides investment services for institutional and individual clients. Polaris' view is that worldwide markets are generally efficient over time, but investor behavior creates volatility that leads to inefficiency somewhere in the world. Polaris believes that investing in the most undervalued companies worldwide likely limits risk and has the potential to outperform the benchmark.

PERFORMANCE COMMENTARY

The global financial markets experienced a period of volatility and general decline in October 2024, marking the end of a strong rally observed in the preceding months. The Polaris Global Value UCITS Fund returned -3.29%, underperforming the MSCI World Index for the month. Sector results were mixed, with notable contributions from financials, energy and industrials, where the Fund was overweight and outperformed. However, overall returns were impacted by losses in the information technology (IT) and consumer discretionary sectors. From a geographic perspective, Ireland and Colombia topped the contribution column. Detractors included South Korea, Japan, the United Kingdom and France.

The consumer discretionary sector pulled back in advance of U.S. elections, with pessimism on both sides of the aisle impacting consumer spending. U.S. footwear manufacturer Crocs Inc. declined after management issued downward guidance revision for its HEYDUDE segment in the fourth quarter of 2024. LG Electronics had disappointing third-quarter earnings results, resulting from weaker iPhone sales and lower operating profit margins in its auto parts division. IT continued to slide, a holdover from the last few months as artificial intelligence (AI) fervor calmed, along with AI-related capital equipment expenditures. Nvidia Corp.'s quarterly results failed to meet out-sized expectations; fellow chip companies or suppliers to Nvidia (like SK Hynix and Samsung Electronics) fell along industry lines.

Financials contributed most to performance, with nearly all of the Fund's U.S. regional and commercial banks posting positive gains. Key portfolio holdings, such as Cullen/Frost Bankers Inc., Northern Trust Corp., Webster Financial Corp. and M&T Bank, delivered robust returns, benefiting from the Federal Reserve's 0.5% interest rate cut in September.

In energy, The Williams Companies, Inc. was a standout, bolstered by relatively high oil prices. Among industrials, Allison Transmission's stock surged following a strong earnings announcement detailing organic growth plans. Daimler Truck's North America segment performed admirably, while sales of battery-electric vehicles grew.

During the month of October, the Fund exited Antofagasta and Daito Trust at a healthy profit, as both reached the upper threshold of Polaris' valuations. Capital was redeployed to purchase three new holdings: LATAM Airlines Group, Sanofi SA, and Chailease Holding.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

RISKS

Potential investors should be aware that an investment in a Fund may be exposed to other risks of an exceptional nature from time to time. Investment in the ICAV carries with it a degree of risk. There can be no assurance that a Fund will achieve its investment objective and there is potential for an investor to lose some or all of its investment in a Fund. Different risks may apply to different Funds and/or classes. Prospective investors should review the Prospectus carefully in its entirety and consult with their professional advisors before making an application for Shares.

The Fund is subject to the following risks, without limitation:

Equity Security Risk: the value of a company's equity securities is subject to changes in the company's financial condition and overall market and economic conditions.

FDI and Leverage Risk: FDI may fluctuate in value rapidly and leverage through FDI may cause losses that are greater than the original amount paid for the relevant FDI.

Emerging Markets Risk: emerging market securities may expose the Fund to more social, political, regulatory or currency risks than developed market securities and may be subject to heightened Liquidity Risk.

MLP Risk: MLPs expose the Fund to risks associated with the underlying assets of the MLPs and risks associated with pooled investment vehicles. There is also a risk that an MLP may not be treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, and the purpose of the Fund's investment in MLPs depends largely upon this.

Liquidity Risk: there may be insufficient buyers or sellers to allow the Fund to buy or sell certain types of securities readily, which may impact the Fund's performance or (in extreme circumstances) an investor's ability to redeem.

Counterparty Risk: a party with whom the Fund contracts for securities may fail to meet its obligations (e.g. fail to settle an FDI) or become bankrupt, which may expose the Fund to a financial loss.

Currency Risk: changes in exchange rates may reduce or increase the value of non-U.S. Dollar denominated assets held by the Fund. There can be no guarantee that currency hedging will be successful in mitigating such effects.

Operational Risk: material losses to the Fund may arise as a result of human error, system and/or process failures, inadequate procedures or controls.

For more information on these and other applicable risks see the sections "Investment Risks and Special Considerations" and "Investment Risks Applicable to each Fund" in the Prospectus.

DISCLOSURES

The Fund invests in securities of foreign issuers, including issuers located in countries with emerging capital markets. Investments in such securities entail certain risks not associated with investments in domestic securities, such as volatility of currency exchange rates, and in some cases, political and economic instability and relatively illiquid markets. Options trading involves risk and is not suitable for all investors.
